Council Did Not Pass the Street Railway Act.

M'LAUGHLIN'S BILL TOSSED OUT

He Wanted a Few Dollars For Defending Officers Jennings and Earl-Clark's Bill
Deprived of Any Amount—Telephone Poles on Jackson Street Are Obnoxious.

Members Horwell and Peake were the only councilmen not at the meeting last night.

It was 8:30 o'clock when President Purinton called the body to order, and Clerk Hanley read the minutes of two regular and one special meeting. An ordinance to pave Avondale street from Bradshaw avenue to Minerva street was passed and the one to improve Minerva street from Walnut to Avondale was read for the second time. The clerk then read the street railway ordinance out of the heap, and as there were two of them a question arose as to which was the original. After reading the title the clerk asked if they wished the entire ordinance read, and as no one said a word the clerk read it. After he had finished, silence reigned. It was dethroned by President Purinton, who said: "Second reading; do you wish to take any action tonight?"

Challis inquired if the street railway company were desirous of having the ordinance passed, and upon being informed they were, made a motion to suspend the rules and place it on its final passage. Marshall objected.
"There is a vast difference from some cause or other between council and the parties who request this ordinance passed. There should be some way of settling these differences before the next meeting. I have no doubt there are some things that should be put in and some things that should be left out of it. I therefore move council meet as a whole and agree among themselves as to what to do."

Attorney McDonald informed the gentleman that a meeting had already been held for that purpose. President Purinton told the objections the company had to the ordinance, and Mr. McDonald said they would like very much to have the question disposed of, as winter was almost here and they wanted to get to work on their line. Stewart then seconded the motion of Challis, and Marshall said: "I don't want to advocate or oppose the ordinance as read; but I believe it would be doing the cause an injustice to vote on the motion tonight. It would be much better and leave a more harmonious feeling to have it go over until the next meeting. No two members of council agree on all sections of that ordinance. If you force it to an issue tonight the chances are you will force it to defeat. The differences are two wide to force a vote. It had much better be laid over until next meeting night and then let us pass it in a minute."

This brought Attorney McDonald to his feet. "I don't know what the minutes will show" he said, "but I think they will show that we came in here two or three months ago asking council for the privilege to build this railway along the route designated in the ordinance. There have been a number of delays, most of which were necessary. But now, after having met here in special session to talk over the matter, there is going to be another delay. As for as the views of the people who are going to build the railway, I voiced their sentiments then. I don't know anything of views of council since then. I don't say for this body to take official action tonight, but I want to impress upon you the fact that winter is almost here, and we will be somewhat delayed by cold weather. You are here to represent the people, and if council would consult their wishes there would be no unnecessary delay. I would be willing to submit this matter to a vote and know that 90 per cent of the people would say build the railroad. Every property owner except two along the proposed route want to see the road built. If you ask the people you meet on the street, nine out of 10 will say grant the franchise. These are practically the same people who have
spent $500,000 in building the bridge.
When we came into council asking the right of way for the bridge, did they extend the right hand of fellowship to us? No. We went down in our pockets to the extent of $20,000 and bought our way. I am not here begging the question, and want nothing but even-handed justice. If we want anything that is not right, don't
give it to us, but don't bind us up too tight. Don't be narrow gauged on this question. Don't be foolish about this thing, but be broad gauged. I have now

given you the situation as we see it at
our end of the line."

Marshall took objection to McDonald's
remarks about the bridge company buying their way into the city and said they
were granted right of way on College street, but McDonald retorted: "Yes,
provided we pay all damages."

Marshall was still in favor of the special meeting, and McDonald said: "I am not here to insist on this thing going through tonight. I want you to understand the ordinance from center to circumference." Challis then withdrew his motion, and Marshall said: "I am glad it will not come up for final passage
tonight. It is of too much importance
to be thrown down by the simple sound
of any man's voice." McDonald then suggested that council drop the question
for the time being and hold an informal meeting to discuss the matter, and after
all differences were settled, a special meeting could be called. It is readily seen that the company and council are
not far apart on the conditions of the franchise, and it is confidently expected
an agreement will soon be reached.

This closed the street railway affair
for the evening, and the finance committee reported against the bill
of J. B. McLaughlin for $65 for defending Officers Earl and Jennings.
The special committee appointed to confer with A. H. Clark in regard to reducing his bill, stated in their report that $500 would be a large amount to give
him. After some discussion it was decided to strike out the $500, and Marshall moved the bill for $800 be rejected
in order that Mr. Clark could get a chance at council. The motion carried.

Mayor Gilbert reported that he had collected $31 in fines and licenses. The report of the fire chief showed they had
answered four fire and 21 patrol calls,
had taken 16 prisoners to the city jail,
and had conveyed four people who were
ill to their homes. The balances in the funds were the same as published in the NEWS REVIEW several days ago, while
the water department has $359.41 on hand. The assessment ordinances for the Avondale street and Nemo and Peach Tree alley improvements were passed.

Mr. Purinton called attention to the telephone poles erected on Jackson street
without permission. This brought forth
a great deal of discussion, and the matter
was left with the street committee who
will have the poles chopped down if the company does not remove them. Stewart
mentioned a very dangerous spot at the foot of Avondale street, and after a barricade had been decided on Kent
said the street commissioner had already
been notified to do the work but had not yet reached it. It was estimated that it would cost $250 to run a drain under East Market street from the Horn
switch to Tanyard run. Marshall wanted to know were to get the $250. Stewart said if something was not done it would cost the city more than $250
after the first rain. Engineer George
was asked if he thought the place would
do for the winter, and said he thought it would stand an ordinary rain, but Stewart said a hard fog would throw the water on the pavement. John Ryan also spoke on the subject, and Purinton explained there was only $745
in the street fund. After some more talk the matter was left in the hands of
street and finance committees with
power to act.

Bids were in for the improvement of Minerva street, and Marshall thought
they should lay over until it was found
what was done with the bonds. Kent said it was really more necessary than the Eighth street improvement. Marshall wanted to know where the money was to do the work. Why not put your bonds on the market. Kent replied by saying they would have money after Nov. 3, and Marshall said then wait till then to spend it. Purinton remarked the place
was in a very bad shape. Marshall said
to sell the bonds or not go ahead with improvements. Purinton then stated it
was deemed unwise by the finance committee to try to sell the bonds before election. After more discussion the bids were laid on the table, and on motion of Marshall the clerk was authorized to advertise the bonds for sale at once.

Mrs. Wucherer had a damage bill of $145, which was referred to the solicitor.
Purinton said the gas ordinance was in the hands of the clerk, and could be called up at any time. A $3,000 note was ordered paid. The property owners
of Pennsylvania avenue asked to have
permission to pave their street, the contractor to collect the assessments and the property owners will furnish the city's share for two and one-half years free of charge. Marshall moved the request be granted, and said it would be a good idea to pave all the streets that way.
The motion carried. This brought Mr.
McDonald to his feet, and he wanted to know what was done with Cook street.
He was told to lay the case before the board of improvement, and council adjourned at 10:30.

THE CHILD WAS DEAD

When Her Mother Looked Into
the Cradle.

HAD ALWAYS BEEN AN INVALID

Little Julia Veigel Passed Away During
the Night—She Suffered Almost All the
Five Years of Her Life From Spinal
Trouble—Was Ill Last Night.

Cold and stiff in death the body of
little Julia Veigel was found in her
cradle this morning.

The child has been an invalid throughout all the five years of her life, and has known but little time when she did not suffer. She was afflicted with spinal trouble, and never walked a step. Her mother cared for her as tenderly as possible, and Julia slept in a cradle in the room with her parents. Last week
she was ill, and yesterday became worse.
In the evening Julia was very sick, but later seemed to grow much better. She was given every attention, and when
the family retired for the night she seemed as well as ever. The mother
heard a noise during the night, and now
believes that was the time the little one died. When Mrs. Veigel arose this morning her first thought was of Julia,
and going to the cradle was shocked to see her dead. The body was cold, and life had evidently departed several hours before. Arrangements were made for the funeral tomorrow afternoon.
Reverend Reinartz will conduct the services. Julia was five years old, and is the daughter of Jacob Veigel, who resides on Third street.

He is a son of the man who served his country as postmaster general and made
the Washington Post the best newspaper
the Capital City ever had. He was in college with J. C. Kelly, W. M. Hill

tion he now occupies several years ago,
and is much attached to life in the navy.

A HANDSOME SPECIMEN

Is the Petrified Wood Found in the Bed of Middle Run.

While workmen were yesterday afternoon engaged in excavating for the foundations of a bridge over Middle run
in West Virginia they found what seemed to be a heavy stone. When it was thrown on the dirt Engineer J. C.
Kelley, who is at work surveying the
street railway, at once recognized it as a fine specimen of petrified wood. It is a section of a trunk of a tree, and the grain of the wood is clearly defined. The piece is fully 30 inches in circumference, 15 inches long and weighs 60 pounds.

A LITTLE BOLT BROKE

And Robert Ferguson Was Dead In Ten Hours.

COOKED BY A HOT CYLINDER

The Victim Was Pinned to the Floor of a
Shop at Walker by a Heavy Press—Only Fourteen Years Old, and the Son of the Storekeeper.

A distressing accident which resulted in the death of Robert Ferguson, a boy
employed at the Walker plant, occurred
yesterday afternoon.

Ferguson was working at a big press,
when a bolt holding the press to the floor snapped. A heavy pressure of steam was on at that time, and the other
fastenings could not stand the strain.
In an instant the other bolts had broken,
the machine was overturned, and Ferguson was lying against the hot cylinder being literally cooked to death.
A six inch steam pipe had broken
at the elbow, but instead of
turning downward had miraculously
turned the other way, and the hot vapor
was not adding its deadly force to the boy's awful sufferings. The accident soon brought a crowd of employes to the scene, and Ferguson was taken to the home of his father not far away. Doctor Parke was summoned from Wells-
ville, and did all in his power to save
the lad, but he was so horribly burned
that he died last night after suffering awful agony. The body was taken this afternoon to Steubenville for interment.
The unfortunate lad was the son of S. C.
Ferguson, the merchant at Walker. The family are well known in this city, and
have the sympathy of many friends.

are practically the same people who have
spent $500,000 in building the bridge.
When we came into council asking the
right of way for the bridge, did they extend the right hand of fellowship to us? No. We went down in our pockets to the extent of $20,000 and bought our way. I am not here begging the question, and want
nothing but even-handed justice. If we
want anything that is not right, don't
give it to us, but don't bind us up too
tight. Don't be narrow gauged on this question. Don't be foolish about this thing, but be broad gauged. I have now

given you the situation as we see it at
our end of the line."

Marshall took objection to McDonald's
remarks about the bridge company buying their way into the city and said they
were granted right of way on College street, but McDonald retorted: "Yes, but
provided we pay all damages."

Marshall was still in favor of the special meeting, and McDonald said: "I am not here to insist on this thing going through tonight. I want you to understand the ordinance from center to circumference." Challis then withdrew
his motion, and Marshall said: "I am
glad it will not come up for final passage
tonight. It is of too much importance
to be thrown down by the simple sound
of any man's voice." McDonald then
suggested that council drop the question
for the time being and hold an informal
meeting to discuss the matter, and after
all differences were settled, a special meeting could be called. It is readily
seen that the company and council are
not far apart on the conditions of the
franchise, and it is confidently expected
an agreement will soon be reached.

This closed the street railway affair
for the evening, and the finance
committee reported against the bill
of J. B. McLaughlin for $65 for defending Officers Earl and Jennings.
The special committee appointed to confer with A. H. Clark in regard to reducing his bill, stated in their report that $500 would be a large amount to give
him. After some discussion it was decided to strike out the $500, and Marshall moved the bill for $800 be rejected
in order that Mr. Clark could get a chance at council. The motion carried.

Mayor Gilbert reported that he had
collected $31 in fines and licenses. The
report of the fire chief showed they had
answered four fire and 21 patrol calls,
had taken 16 prisoners to the city jail,
and had conveyed four people who were
ill to their homes. The balances in the
funds were the same as published in the NEWS REVIEW several days ago, while
the water department has $359.41 on
hand. The assessment ordinances for
the Avondale street and Nemo and Peach Tree alley improvements were
passed.

Mr. Purinton called attention to the telephone poles erected on Jackson street
without permission. This brought forth
a great deal of discussion, and the matter
was left with the street committee who
will have the poles chopped down if the
company does not remove them. Stewart
mentioned a very dangerous spot at the foot of Avondale street, and after a barricade had been decided on Kent
said the street commissioner had already
been notified to do the work but had not yet reached it. It was estimated that it would cost $250 to run a drain under
East Market street from the Horn
switch to Tanyard run. Marshall wanted to know were to get the $250. Stewart
said if something was not done it
would cost the city more than $250
after the first rain. Engineer George
was asked if he thought the place would
do for the winter, and said he thought
it would stand an ordinary rain, but Stewart said a hard fog would
throw the water on the pavement. John Ryan also spoke on the subject, and Purinton explained there was only $745
in the street fund. After some more
talk the matter was left in the hands of
street and finance committees with
power to act.

Bids were in for the improvement of Minerva street, and Marshall thought
they should lay over until it was found
what was done with the
bonds. Kent said it was really more necessary than the eighth
street improvement. Marshall wanted
to know where the money was to do the
work. Why not put your bonds on the market. Kent replied by saying they would have money after Nov. 3, and Marshall said then wait till then to
spend it. Purinton remarked the place
was in a very bad shape. Marshall said
to sell the bonds or not go ahead with improvements. Purinton then stated it
was deemed unwise by the finance committee to try to sell the bonds before
election. After more discussion the bids
were laid on the table, and on motion of Marshall the clerk was authorized to advertise the bonds for sale at once.

Mrs. Wucherer had a damage bill of $145, which was referred to the solicitor.
Purinton said the gas ordinance was in
the hands of the clerk, and could be
called up at any time. A $3,000 note
was ordered paid. The property owners
of Pennsylvania avenue asked to have
permission to pave their street, the contractor to collect the assessments and the
property owners will furnish the city's
share for two and one-half years free of charge. Marshall moved the request be granted, and said it would be a good
idea to pave all the streets that way.
The motion carried. This brought Mr.
McDonald to his feet, and he wanted to
know what was done with Cook street.
He was told to lay the case before the
board of improvement, and council adjourned at 10:30.

THE CHILD WAS DEAD

When Her Mother Looked Into
the Cradle.

Little Julia Veigel Passed Away During
the Night—She Suffered Almost All the
Five Years of Her Life From Spinal
Trouble—Was Ill Last Night.

Cold and stiff in death the body of
little Julia Veigel was found in her
cradle this morning.

The child has been an invalid throughout the five years of her life, and has
known but little time when she did not suffer. She was afflicted with spinal
trouble, and never walked a step. Her
mother cared for her as tenderly as
possible, and Julia slept in a cradle in
the room with her parents. Last week
she was ill, and yesterday became worse.
In the evening Julia was very sick, but later seemed to grow much better. She
was given every attention, and when
the family retired for the night she
seemed as well as ever. The mother
heard a noise during the night, and now
believes that was the time the little one
died. When Mrs. Veigel arose this morning her first thought was of Julia,
and going to the cradle was shocked to
see her dead. The body was cold, and
life had evidently departed several
hours before. Arrangements were made for the funeral tomorrow afternoon.
Reverend Reinartz will conduct the
services. Julia was five years old, and
is the daughter of Jacob Veigel, who resides on Third street.

AN OFFICER OF THE BANCROFT

Is Well Known to a Number of Liverpool Parties.

There are a number of people in the city anxiously watching the reports as they come each day from Constantinople, for among the officers of the tight little ship Bancroft is one in whom they are interested.

To them he is known as Dick Hatton,
and on the ward room list he is registered as Richard R. Hatton, paymaster.
He is a son of the man who served his
country as postmaster general and made
the Washington Post the best newspaper
the Capital City ever had. He was in
college with J. C. Kelly, W. M. Hill
and W. L. Taylor, and was an usher at the Taylor-McDonald wedding in the First U. P. church, three years ago.
Mr. Hatton has frequently visited here, and is well known to a large number of people. He was appointed to the position he now occupies several years ago,
and is much attached to life in the navy.

Is the Petrified Wood Found in the Bed of Middle Run.

While workmen were yesterday afternoon engaged in excavating for the
foundations of a bridge over Middle run
in West Virginia they found what
seemed to be a heavy stone. When it was thrown on the dirt Engineer J. C.
Kelley, who is at work surveying the
street railway, at once recognized it as a fine specimen of petrified wood. It is a section of a trunk of a tree, and the
grain of the wood is clearly defined. The
piece is fully 30 inches in circumference, 15 inches long and weighs 60 pounds.

This Surveying Both Banks of the Ohio

The survey of the Ohio under the direction of the war department is progressing, but with nothing like the speed expected by rivermen. The work is in charge of Capt. R. R. Jones, and he and his corps have been at it for several weeks. They started at Pittsburg, and have only reached a point a short distance this side of Dixmont. The im-renders the survey a tedious task. Both banks of the river are being surveyed,

and the work is complete.

A LITTLE BOLT BROKE

And Robert Ferguson Was Dead In Ten Hours.

COOKED BY A HOT CYLINDER

The Victim Was Pinned to the Floor of a
Shop at Walker by a Heavy Press—Only
Fourteen Years Old, and the Son of the Storekeeper.

A distressing accident which resulted
in the death of Robert Ferguson, a boy
employed at the Walker plant, occurred
yesterday afternoon.

Ferguson was working at a big press,
when a bolt holding the press to the
floor snapped. A heavy pressure of
steam was on at that time, and the other
fastenings could not stand the strain.
In an instant the other bolts had broken,
and Ferguson was lying against the hot cylinder being literally cooked to death.

A six inch steam pipe had broken
at the elbow, but instead of
turning downward had miraculously
turned the other way, and the hot vapor
was not adding its deadly force to the boy's awful sufferings. The accident soon brought a crowd of employees to the scene, and Ferguson was taken to the home of his father not far away. Doctor
Parke was summoned from Wells-
ville, and did all in his power to save
the lad, but he was so horribly burned
that he died last night after suffering
awful agony. The body was taken this afternoon to Steubenville for interment.
The unfortunate lad was the son of S. C.
Ferguson, the merchant at Walker. The
family are well known in this city, and
have the sympathy of many friends.

thing to exhibit, and finding an unusually large ear of corn laid it aside until he could bring it to the fair. He came to town today, and filling himself full of all kinds of intoxicants looked around for the fair. As he does not take the papers he did not know the fair was dead, and he caused no end of amusement as he and his big ear wandered through the streets hunting the fair.

If President Cleveland had displayed a little more backbone, the unspeakable Turk may yet be taught to know the power of public opinion as used in America.

The McKinley souvenir issued by the Canton Record is a beauty. Typographically it is all that skill can produce, and the subject matter is complete in every particular.

The Canton News Democrat seems to be the only institution in the district at present making any effort to send General Sherwood to congress. Better give it up, boys, and let Bob Tayler have it by acclamation.

All the old boys for miles around will once more rally round the flag with the brave generals who led them on more than one bloody field of battle, and the Republican meeting of next Monday will be an event in the history of the city.

HON. GEORGE P. IKIRT is far from being in accord with the political views of the NEWS REVIEW and his silver doctrine is pernicious and dangerous; but, as a citizen of good repute, he stands head and shoulders above his competitors for leadership, now deposed, and drinking deep from the cup of humiliation as presented by one Potts.

A STRONG EFFORT.

The election of Mr. Bryan is happily beyond the range of reasonable probability, but not a Republican should give up the fight until the votes are cast and counted. The conspirators who have brought about this agitation for silver and have damaged business to the extent of many millions of dollars by their pronounced anarchistic utterances, will not stop at one defeat. They have too much at stake. It is estimated that the enactment of the free coinage plank of the Chicago platform into law would mean an increase of 64 cents per ounce on the profits of silver producers, a total of $16,000,000 on the output of the country. The New York World claims that millionaire miners have already subscribed $306,592 to the Democratic campaign fund, and more will follow as it is needed. They are blinded by the dazzle of wealth to be obtained through free coinage legislation, and seem ready to stop at no questionable means in their efforts to win. Nothing short of an overwhelming victory for gold, an almost universal demand on the part of the people for honest money will show them that Americans cannot be used as catspaws. If every man who believes in the benefits to be derived from an honest dollar and a chance to earn it honestly will not only vote for his principles, but use every honorable means in inducing his Democratic friends and neighbors to do likewise, the free and unlimited coinage of silver will go down to sudden and ignominious death in less than three weeks.

THREE BANDITS SHOT.

They Robbed a Bank at Meeker, Colo.

FOUR OF THE CITIZENS WOUNDED.

Two of the Robbers Killed at the First Volley From the Townspeople, Who Had Surrounded the Building—Bandits Fired at the Cashier.

MEEKER, Colo., Oct. 15.—Three men entered the bank of Meeker, which is connected with the store of J. W. Hugs & Co., who own the bank. Two of the men held the store employees at bay, while the third went into the bank cashier's window and firing one shot ordered the cashier to throw up his hands. The order was not quickly obeyed and the robber fired again, whereupon the cashier's hands went up.

The manager of the store then was forced to open the back door, and, after gathering up all the money in sight, the robbers marched the cashier and store employees into the street with hands uplifted. They then rushed out the back way with their booty. Citizens attracted by the shots had pretty well surrounded the building by this time, and, being armed, opened fire on the robbers, two of whom, Charles Jones and William Smith, were killed by the first volley. The third man, George Harris, was shot through the lungs, dying in two hours. He was fully identified and gave the others' names, which which are believed to be fictitious.

Four citizens were wounded, District Game Warden W. H. Clark, bullet in right breast, not fatally injured; Victor Dikeman, clerk, shot through right arm; C. A. Booth, clerk, scalp wound; W. P. Herrick, finger shot off. It is believed one of the dead men is Thomas McCarthy, who robbed the banks at Telluride and Delta, Colo. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Meeker is 90 miles from Rifle, on the Denver and Rio Grande railway, the nearest telegraph station.

DIME NOVELS THE CAUSE.

Minnesota Bicycle Bank Robbers Sons of Respectable Parents.

ROCK RAPIDS, Ia., Oct. 15.—The Sherburne bank robbers, it has been definitely settled, are none other than Lou and Hans Kellihan, well known boys in this city. News of the discovery fell like a thunderbolt. Their parents who are reputable people are prostrated by the announcement. Both boys were born and raised here.

Hans, the dead one, has been away from home four years and was supposed to be traveling with a theatrical troupe. He came home two months ago and persuaded Lou to go with him, saying he had a position for him. The printed portraits leave no doubt of the identity of the boys. Lou has been considered a trustworthy lad and was held in high esteem. The father, John Kellihan and J. D. Wilson, his brother-in-law have gone to Blue Earth City to see him.

The boys left here two weeks ago presumably to visit relatives. The crime was undoubtedly plotted here. The dead robber is believed to have been the main conspirator and the murderer of the two men in the Sherburne bank. Reading of dime novels is believed to have been the cause of the crime.

A Posse After Six Robbers.

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 15.—A posse of 50 men is pursuing six robbers, who rode into Puryear, Tenn., and after robbing the safe of Broughton Brothers of several hundred dollars, set fire to their store, and also to other stores, which they also robbed.

BRYAN IN MICHIGAN.

A Big Crowd Turned Out to Hear Him at Marquette.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Oct. 15.—This city turned out a big crowd to hear W. J. Bryan on his arrival last night and there was great enthusiasm.

He had made speeches to big crowds at the railway stations along the way ever since he reached Ironwood at 8:45 in the morning.

The special car of D. M. Campau, chairman of the Democratic campaign committee, had been attached to the train at Duluth and the Michigan committee which escorts the nominee through the state were aboard. Besides Mr. Campau the committee was composed of ex-Congressman T. E. Tarsney, Justin R. Whiting, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor and George W. Moore. Mrs. Justin Whiting accompanied the committee, she being an old friend of Mrs. Bryan.

A Nation of Medicine Takers.

It is an accepted fact that the American people are the greatest users of medicines of any sort or another on the face of the earth. Imaginary ills make up a large part of man's earthly troubles.

Some people need only to read the vivid description of some chronic disease and they are at once victims to the complaint in question. Many patent medicine venders make use of this peculiarity and lead some people to believe that their tired feeling comes from their blood not being rich and red. Millions would be saved and our general health would be better if we would take medicine only when really needed and then get a remedy specially prepared for the disease with which we are suffering.

As an illustration, when you have sore throat, there can't be any imagination about it. Your throat hurts; probably is covered with white ulcerated spots, and you know you need a remedy. Use good judgment. Get a cure put up for this one purpose. There is such a remedy. Tonsiline is its name, and it is a wonder in its field. Being put up for this one class of diseases, it cures quickly, surely, and many times as fast as any other. No family can afford to be without Tonsiline in the home, as it is a certain cure for Sore Throat, Sore Mouth, Croup and Quinsy. Ask your neighbors who have used it. All druggists sell Tonsiline. 25 and 50 cents.

CUBANS LEARN TO AIM.

They Can Now Handle Artillery With Decent Skill.

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 15.—The family of General Calixto have received a letter from him in which he notes considerable improvement in the artillery work of the Cubans. His letter says: "Our previous experience with artillery has not been very flattering, because at Zanja, Sagua de Tanamo and La Venta de Casanova the artillery had not done effective work, and the Spanish forts which they attacked remained standing after quite a siege." He then describes an attack on the Spanish fort Lomade Hierro, near the town of Auras, against which the Cubans planted their cannon from rising ground about 400 metres distant. He says:

"It was the first time in this campaign that a field piece had been given my command and I was very nervous for having heard of the former experiences with these pieces, I was afraid of failure, for the cannon I have is very small, although I calculated more on its penetrative force on the contrary. General Calixto had every confidence of a successful outcome, and sent to tell me to keep up the fire as long as we had a shot left."

"We fired 28 shots into the fortification and then we saw the Spanish soldiers hurriedly abandon the fort. We captured in the fort 40,000 cartridges, provisions, medicines, etc. We also found two dead soldiers. A short time afterward this fort was completely demolished and burnt down by our forces. Another expedition has arrived and our situation is improving—we have arms and ammunition, and should the Spaniards attempt the winter campaign, they will find us stronger and with the moral conviction of a brief struggle and sure triumph."

LAND MEN AND ARMS.

The Dauntless Made a Successful Trip to Cuba.

ATLANTA, Oct. 15.—Mr. August Pacetti of the firm of Llorens, Pacetti & Co. of this city has received a letter from a friend in Cuba, saying that the filibustering steamer Dauntless had arrived and landed on the south coast of Cuba with men and ammunition.

The letter to Mr. Pacetti stated that the Dauntless met a schooner in mid-ocean, which had on board 250 men and ammunition and arms that had been loaded at some other point on the coast. When the Dauntless came up the entire cargo was transferred to her, and they were safely landed after a perilous voyage.

DR. HAMILTON RESIGNS.

He Accuses Surgeon General Wyman of Mistreating Him.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Dr. John B. Hamilton of the United States Marine hospital, stationed at Chicago, has wired a peremptory resignation to President Cleveland.

This action puts a new complexion upon a matter which has been agitating army officers for weeks. Dr. Hamilton has not received a reply from the president. Some time ago Hamilton was ordered to the Marine hospital at San Francisco. He objected to being transferred and made an official protest. This protest was overruled and Dr. Hamilton was notified that he must proceed to San Francisco forthwith. He then decided to retire from the service.

"The whole thing was worked by Surgeon General Walter Wyman," said Dr. Hamilton.

"I have been literally driven out of the service and my retirement is doubtless just what Wyman desires. When I resigned as surgeon general to become hospital surgeon, Wyman became my successor, partly through my efforts and his present endeavors to oust me from the Marine hospital here is more than I can stand."

"I will not go to San Francisco under any circumstances."

A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT.

Governor of British Guiana Expects One With Venezuela.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Sir Augustus W. L. Hemming, governor of British Guiana, has arrived at Plymouth. The Venezuela dispute, he said, was entirely in the hands of the home government, and it was impossible to predict the outcome, but it was unlikely that anything serious would occur.

The feeling in the colony, he said, was distinctly British. There was naturally some dissatisfaction, but the majority was decidedly opposed to Venezuelan encroachments. A very strong feeling had been aroused, he said, by the intervention of the United States.

Venezuela itself was not a very terrible foe. But he was convinced that the government would now soon finally solve the difficulty.

The future of British Guiana, the governor said, was bright. Gold was abundant in various parts besides the disputed district, and there was good opening for prospectors. The country only wanted exploring.

Which?—It Cannot Be Both.

The paradoxes and fallacies of the free silver advocates are plentifully illustrated in the interesting letters of workmen to The World.

One set stoutly maintain that there would be no cheap dollar or 50 cent dollar under free coinage. If the white metal were given unlimited coinage it would instantly rise, they say, to $1.29 an ounce. The present price of 68 cents they attribute to the demonetization in 1873, though a silver dollar was then worth more than a gold one, and none was coined or in circulation.

Another and the more numerous class at the south and west insist that what the country needs is a cheaper dollar. The good old gold dollar of Jefferson, Jackson and Benton has been "forced up" in value, they say. They want a dollar of about half its value to increase the price of their products and to enable them to pay their debts at half the present cost and trouble. As Mr. Bryan put it in his letter to The World, they would "restore the parity between money and property" by reducing the value of the dollar.

Now both of these theories cannot be true. They are flatly contradictory. If silver would appreciate under free coinage, there would be no cheap money. Prices would not rise. Debts could not be scaled down. If it would not appreciate, the workingman's saved dollars would be reduced one-half in value, the cost of his living would double and his wages would not increase in anything like the ratio of the increase in his expenses.

Why is the best money too good for wage-workers? What is the matter with the highest standard of value in a country where the highest wages and the highest standard of living prevail? The World begs the workingmen to think a little deeper and a little further on this vital subject.—New York World.

What Southern Business Men Think.

A canvass of the leading manufacturing and other business concerns of the south regarding the presidential contest has been made by The Manufacturers' Record of Baltimore with results well worth the careful study of every southern voter. The Record sent out a circular containing these two questions:

First—What in your opinion would be the effect upon business if the gold and protection ticket should win?

Second—What in your opinion would be the effect upon business if the silver and free trade ticket should win.

This was mailed to several hundred southern manufacturers, no account being taken of the partisan predilections of any. Within one week 151 answers were returned, 124 of which were unqualifiedly against free silver, regarding the possibility of Bryan's election as a menace to all business interests. Only fifteen of the number, or one in ten, were in favor of free silver, while twelve were noncommittal. The industries included were cotton manufacturers, lumber operators, iron and steel producers, coal miners, in short, all the leading branches of manufactures and mineral production in the south. A good many of those who replied stated that for the first time in their lives they would be compelled to sever old party relations to protect their business from ruin.

The value of these replies lies chiefly in the fact that they let a flood of light upon the views of the best informed class of men in business affairs to be found in the section in which the free silver doctrine finds the readiest acceptance. Many are the employers of hundreds of laborers; they are all business men and not politicians, and their views are their own and not the mere reflection of Wall street or some other financial center.—Philadelphia Times.

From the Mexican Border.

Mr. D. T. Roy, well known in Columbus, and a son of the Hon. Alexander Roy, formerly mine inspector of Ohio, writes to a friend in Pittsburg, Kan., concerning matters and things in Mexico. Mr. Roy is general manager of the Rio Grande Land and Irrigation company, near Larada, Tex.:

"You might tell some of your free silver friends that we pay 89 cents per day for drivers, 85 cents for timbermen, 25 cents for trapper boys, 75 cents for outside labor; good carpenters get $1 per day, and a good blacksmith $1.15. We pay in United States currency, but across the river in Mexico the same prices obtain except that they are paid in Mexican money, which, as you know, is about one-half. In fact, yesterday, I bought $105 in Mexican dollars, containing more silver than our own for $55 American. A miner, a blacksmith, a carpenter, a mason, a laboring man of any kind who favors the free coinage of silver should be examined by Dr. Williams and sent to the Ossawatimie Asylum for the Insane."

GOV. BUSHNELL'S SON WEDS.

United In Marriage to the Daughter of Publisher Harwood.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 15.—John Ludlow Bushnell, only son of Governor Bushnell of Ohio, was married last evening at High Street Methodist Episcopal church to Miss Jessie Harwood, daughter of T. E. Harwood, publisher of The Daily Gazette. E. L. Kellogg of Pittsburg was best man. The bride's sister, Miss Nannie Harwood was maid of honor.

The couple, who left at 8:40 for an eastern trip, received $10,000 worth of wedding presents, including a house and lot from Governor Bushnell. General Axline, Colonel Prettyman of London and Private Secretary Rodgers were present.

Bankruptcy Coming.

The treasury statement for Oct. 1 foreshadows the coming bankruptcy of the government under the deficit-producing Wilson tariff law. The revenues were over $5,000,000 less than the expenditures during September; and for the first three months of the fiscal year the deficit exceeds $25,000,000. And during those three months the expenditures over receipts have been $6,000,000 more than for the corresponding period last year.

If this rate of shortage in revenues continues for three months longer, the treasury will not have money to meet the ordinary daily expenses of the government, unless it uses the gold reserve to meet them. The gold in the treasury has gained $24,000,000 in three months, greenbacks being taken out as the gold was paid in. This has diminished the currency in the treasury by that much.

What will Cleveland do? The law gives him authority to issue bonds to keep up the gold reserve, but not to meet the ordinary government expenditures. The treasury would have been bankrupt long ago had it not been for the previous bond issues. True, the gold was not used directly for expenses; but when it was drawn out greenbacks went into the general fund and were used for ordinary expenditures. In effect, the proceeds of the bond issues have been used to cover the deficit created by the Wilson law. The people should take note of this condition and vote on Nov. 3 for a policy which means abundant revenue instead of monthly deficits.—Toledo Blade.

Silver Down, Wheat Up.

Has any one observed any sympathetic relations between the prices of wheat and of silver lately? While the price of wheat has gone up about 20 per cent during the last month, the price of silver has been sagging until it is now worth only 65 or 66 cents per ounce—that is, until the silver in a silver dollar is worth only 51 cents. If wheat and silver don't get together at this critical period for the white metal, its best friends will desert it on election day.

Free coinage would not start a factory or make a demand for an additional day's labor. It would create no new occupations. It would add nothing to the comfort of the masses, the capital of the people or the wealth of the nation. It seeks to introduce a new measure of value, but would add no value to the thing measured. It would not conserve values. On the contrary, it would derange all existing values. It would not restore business confidence, but its direct effect would be to destroy the little which yet remains.—WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

If President Cleveland but displays a little more backbone, the unspeakable Turk may yet be taught to know the power of public opinion as used in America.

The McKinley souvenir issued by the Canton Record is a beauty. Typographically it is all that skill can produce, and the subject matter is complete in every particular.

The Canton News Democrat seems to be the only institution in the district at present making any effort to send General Sherwood to congress. Better give it up, boys, and let Bob Tayler have it by acclamation.

All the old boys for miles around will once more rally round the flag with the brave generals who led them on more than one bloody field of battle, and the Republican meeting of next Monday will be an event in the history of the city.

HON. GEORGE P. KURT is far from being in accord with the political views of the News Review and his silver doctrine is pernicious and dangerous; but, as a citizen of good repute, he stands head and shoulders above his competitors for leadership, now deposed, and drinking deep from the cup of humiliation as presented by one Potts.

A STRONG EFFORT.

The election of Mr. Bryan is happily beyond the range of reasonable probability, but not a Republican should give up the fight until the votes are cast and counted. The conspirators who have brought about this agitation for silver and have damaged business to the extent of many millions of dollars by their pronounced anarchistic utterances, will not stop at one defeat. They have too much at stake. It is estimated that the enactment of the free coinage plank of the Chicago platform into law would mean an increase of 64 cents per ounce on the profits of silver producers, a total of $16,000,000 on the output of the country. The New York World claims that millionaire miners have already subscribed $306,592 to the Democratic campaign fund, and more will follow as it is needed. They are blinded by the dazzle of wealth to be obtained through free coinage legislation, and seem ready to stop at no questionable means in their efforts to win. Nothing short of an overwhelming victory for gold, an almost universal demand on the part of the people for honest money will show them that Americans cannot be used as catspaws. If every man who believes in the benefits to be derived from an honest dollar and a chance to earn it honestly will not only vote for his principles, but use every honorable means in inducing his Democratic friends and neighbors to do likewise, the free and unlimited coinage of silver will go down to sudden and ignominious death in less than three weeks.

THREE BANDITS SHOT.

They Robbed a Bank at Meeker, Colo.

FOUR OF THE CITIZENS WOUNDED.

Two of the Robbers Killed at the First Volley From the Townspeople, Who Had Surrounded the Building—Bandits Fired at the Cashier.

MEERER, Colo., Oct. 15.—Three men entered the bank of Meeker, which is connected with the storeroom of J. W. Hugs & Co., who own the bank. Two of the men held the store employees at bay, while the third went into the bank cashier's window and firing one shot ordered the cashier to throw up his hands. The order was not quickly obeyed and the robber fired again, whereupon the cashier's hands went up. The manager of the store then was forced to open the back door, and, after gathering up all the money in sight, the robbers marched the cashier and store employees into the street with hands uplifted. They then rushed out the back way with their booty. Citizens attracted by the shots had pretty well surrounded the building by this time, and, being armed, opened fire on the robbers, two of whom, Charles Jones and William Smith, were killed by the first volley. The third man, George Harris, was shot through the lungs, dying in two hours. He was fully identified and gave the others' names, which which are believed to be fictitious. Four citizens were wounded, District Game Warden W. H. Clark, bullet in right breast, not fatally injured; Victor Dikeman, clerk, shot through right arm; C. A. Booth, clerk, scalp wound; W. E. Herrick, finger shot off. It is believed one of the dead men is Thomas McCarthy, who robbed the banks at Telluride and Delta, Colo. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. Meeker is 90 miles from Rifle, on the Denver and Rio Grande railway, the nearest telegraph station.

Minnesota Bicycle Bank Robbers Sons of Respectable Parents.

ROCK RAPIDS, Ia., Oct. 15.—The Sherburne bank robbers, it has been definitely settled, are none other than Lou and Hans Kellihan, well known boys in this city. News of the discovery fell like a thunderbolt. Their parents who are reputable people are prostrated by the announcement. Both boys were born and raised here. Hans, the dead one, has been away from home four years and was supposed to be traveling with a theatrical troupe. He came home two months ago and persuaded Lou to go with him, saying he had a position for him. The printed portraits leave no doubt of the identity of the boys. Lou has been considered a trustworthy lad and was held in high esteem. The father, John Kellihan and J. D. Wilson, his brother-in-law have gone to Blue Earth City to see him. The boys left here two weeks ago presumably to visit relatives. The crime was undoubtedly plotted here. The dead robber is believed to have been the main conspirator and the murderer of the two men in the Sherburne bank. Reading of dime novels is believed to have been the cause of the crime.

A Posse After Six Robbers.

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 15.—A posse of 50 men is pursuing six robbers, who rode into Puyar, Tenn., and after robbing the safe of Broughton Brothers of several hundred dollars, set fire to their store, and also to other stores, which they also robbed.

BRYAN IN MICHIGAN.

A Big Crowd Turned Out to Hear Him at Marquette.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Oct. 15.—This city turned out a big crowd to hear W. J. Bryan on his arrival last night and there was great enthusiasm. He had made speeches to big crowds at the railway stations along the way ever since he reached Ironwood at 8:45 in the morning. The special car of D. M. Campau, chairman of the Democratic campaign committee, had been attached to the train at Duluth and the Michigan committee which escorts the nominee through the state were aboard. Besides Mr. Campau the committee was composed of ex-Congressman T. E. Tarsney, Justin R. Whiting, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor and George W. Moore. Mrs. Justin Whiting accompanied the committee, she being an old friend of Mrs. Bryan.

A Nation of Medicine Takers.

It is an accepted fact that the American people are the greatest users of medicines of one sort or another on the face of the earth. Imaginary ills make up a large part of man's earthly troubles, and they are at once victims to the vivid description of some chronic disease, and they are at once victims to the complaint in question. Many patent medicine venders make use of this peculiarity and lead some people to believe that their tired feeling comes from their blood not being rich and red. Millions would be saved and our general health would be better if we would take medicine only when really needed and then get a remedy specially prepared for the disease with which we are suffering. As an illustration, when you have sore throat, there can't be any imagination about it. Your throat hurts; probably is covered with white ulcerated spots, and you know you need a remedy. Use good judgment. Get a cure put up for this one purpose. There is such a remedy. Tonsiline is its name, and it is a wonder in its field. Being put up for this one class of diseases, it cures quickly, surely, and many times as if by magic. No family can afford to be without Tonsiline in the home, as it is a certain cure for Sore Throat, Sore Mouth, Croup and Quinsy. Ask your neighbors who have used it. All druggists sell Tonsiline. 35 and 50 cents.

CUBANS LEARN TO AIM.

They Can Now Handle Artillery With Decency & Skill.

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 15.—The family of General Calixto have received a letter from him in which he notes considerable improvement in the artillery work of the Cubans. His letter says: "Our previous experience with artillery has not been very flattering, because at Zanja, Sagua de Tanamo and La Venta de Casanova the artillery had not done effective work, and the Spanish forts which they attacked remained standing after quite a siege." He then describes an attack on the Spanish fort Lomado Hierro, near the town of Auras, against which the Cubans planted their cannon from rising ground about 400 metres distant. He says: "It was the first time in this campaign that a field piece had been given my command and I was very nervous for having heard of the former experiences with these pieces, I was afraid of failure, for the cannon I have is very small, although I calculated more on its penetrative force on the contrary. General Calixto had every confidence of a successful outcome, and sent to tell me to keep up the fire as long as we had a shot left. "We fired 28 shots into the fortification and then we saw the Spanish soldiers hurriedly abandon the fort. We captured in the fort 40,000 cartridges, provisions, medicines, etc. We also found two dead soldiers. A short time afterward this fort was completely demolished and burnt down by our forces. Another expedition has arrived and our situation is improving—we have arms and ammunition, and should the Spaniards attempt the winter campaign, they will find us stronger and with the moral conviction of a brief struggle and sure triumph."

LAND MEN AND ARMS.

The Dauntless Made a Successful Trip to Cuba.

ATLANTA, Oct. 15.—Mr. August Pacetti of the firm of Llorens, Pacetti & Co. of this city has received a letter from a friend in Cuba, saying that the filibustering steamer Dauntless had arrived and landed on the south coast of Cuba with men and ammunition. The letter to Mr. Pacetti stated that the Dauntless met a schooner in mid-ocean, which had on board 258 men and ammunition, and arms that had been loaded at some other point on the coast. When the Dauntless came up the entire cargo was transferred to her, and they were safely landed after a perilous voyage.

DR. HAMILTON RESIGNS.

He Accuses Surgeon General Wyman of Mistreating Him.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Dr. John B. Hamilton of the United States Marine hospital, stationed at Chicago, has wired a peremptory resignation to President Cleveland. This action puts a new complexion upon a matter which has been agitating army officers for weeks. Dr. Hamilton has not received a reply from the president. Some time ago Hamilton was ordered to the Marine hospital at San Francisco. He objected to being transferred and made an official protest. This protest was overruled and Dr. Hamilton was notified that he must proceed to San Francisco forthwith. He then decided to retire from the service. "The whole thing was worked by Surgeon General Walter Wyman," said Dr. Hamilton. "I have been literally driven out of the service and my retirement is doubtless just what Wyman desires. When I resigned as surgeon general to become hospital surgeon, Wyman became my successor, partly through my efforts and his present endeavors to oust me from the Marine hospital here is more than I can stand. "I will not go to San Francisco under any circumstances."

A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT.

Governor of British Guiana Expects One With Venezuela.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Sir Augustus W. L. Hemming, governor of British Guiana, has arrived at Plymouth. The Venezuela dispute, he said, was entirely in the hands of the home government, and it was impossible to predict the outcome, but it was unlikely that anything serious would occur. The feeling in the colony, he said, was distinctly British. There was naturally some dissatisfaction, but the majority was decidedly opposed to Venezuelan encroachments. A very strong feeling had been aroused, he said, by the intervention of the United States. Venezuela itself was not a very terrible foe. But he was convinced that the government would now soon finally solve the difficulty. The future of British Guiana, the governor said, was bright. Gold was abundant in various parts besides the disputed district, and there was good opening for prospectors. The country only wanted exploring.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15.—The Brotherhood of St. Andrew convention opened here this morning, in Trinity church, Rt. Rev. MIXED WITH CHEERS

Was the Speech of McKinley to McDonald, Pa., Crowd.

CIRCUS MEN GAVE HIM A FLAG.

The Early Settlers' Association of Cuyahoga County, O., Called on the McKinley Family—Only Visitors From Cleveland and Cumberland, Md.

CANTON, Oct. 15.—A special train of 11 coaches over the Pennsylvania line brought an enthusiastic party from McDonald, Pa., with greetings and congratulations for Major McKinley. The delegation was composed largely of railroad men, farmers and other citizens. Their demonstration was very enthusiastic and Major McKinley's address responding to the spokesman, Charles A. Whiteshot, was constantly interrupted by applause.

Barney & Bailey's circus has been in town and the parade was extended beyond the usual course so as to pass the McKinley home, where it was reviewed by Major and Mrs. McKinley and a number of friends. In honor of the visit to McKinley's home the circus people all wore the national colors and the tent was elaborately decorated. The press box was reserved for Mrs. McKinley and a company of friends. The employees of the circus presented Major McKinley a large and handsome American flag, through a committee who called at the house. Major McKinley accepted the flag with an appropriate address.

The Early Settlers' association of Cuyahoga county came to Canton to greet Major McKinley, his wife and mother. The party occupied a special train of six coaches. Mother McKinley was at the major's home to receive the greetings of the party. Introductions were made by Father H. M. Addison, the veteran journalist of Cleveland, and by Rev. Cooley, chaplain of the Early Settlers' association. Several carloads of employees of the Cleveland City Street Railway company were here and paid their respects to Major McKinley. They were all uniformly dressed and were particularly well drilled. The delegation was one of the best appearing and most attractive crowds that has yet visited the city. It was introduced by Thomas Martin.

Two hundred miners, merchants and mechanics of Cumberland, Md., and vicinity also visited the major. They went direct to the McKinley home after arriving, and when the major appeared on the porch, greeted him with a shout and a hurrah. They were introduced by Thomas Snyder, chairman of the Allegheny county executive committee. To the Pennsylvania delegation Major McKinley said:

It gives me great pleasure and gratification to meet this representative body of my fellow citizens of every branch of occupation and employment, men and women here at my home, who bring assurances of good will and congratulation. I am prepared to believe that your spokesman has said, from the number of delegations from your state that have visited me already that Pennsylvania is really to be on the side of the Republican party this year. [Cries of "sur, sur," and "yes, yes" to welcome you as valuable allies in the great contest in which we are engaged for public honor, for public morals, for good currency and a protective policy that will preserve all the interests of the American people. I congratulate you upon the splendid government under which you live—the freest and best government in the world, free government is the ideal of our civilization. It rests upon the consent of the governed. All people of all races and nationalities who are citizens of this country equally participate in its government and equally share in its benefits and its blessings.]

We have been extremely fortunate as a government. We have had no serious causes of complaint in our eventful history. The master of good government and by that I mean the devotion of Jefferson that the "best government is that which seems to govern least," that gives to the citizen the largest freedom of individual action, the largest individual liberty, that places upon the citizen the least restraint and imposes the smallest burdens upon his time, his service or his income. Contrast our condition with that of the people of other countries and we find cause for sincere rejoicings. In 130 years of our national life we have made steady progress in the march of civilization and in the improvement and development of the great resources which God has given us. Nothing has long impeded our march, and nothing can for the people have a way under our form of government of getting rid of policies and of parties which are unsuited to our citizenship and unfavorable to the march of our civilization. We can look back over the whole stretch of our national life with pride and exultation. We have had our ups and downs, our periods of panic and depression resulting from one cause or another, but none of these, nor all of these combined, have thus far stopped the triumphant march of the American republic. We have a right to rejoice over the good fortune which has attended us in the past. The condition of our people is better than the condition of the people of any other nation of the globe. Wages have been higher; labor has been more dignified, more independent, more exalted. Schools of learning have been within easy reach and without price to every boy and girl of the republic; and the poor boy, with the rich boy, enjoys equal opportunity to draw from these great fountains of knowledge. And under our system the poor boy can rise, and he often has, the highest place in the gift of a self-governed republic. [Tremendous cheering.]

We can truthfully claim also, as Americans that our national administration in all the years of the past, whether Federal or Democratic, or Whig or Republican, have for the most part conducted the government with credit, honor and efficiency. They will contrast favorably with the administrations of any other government on earth. [A voice: "It beats all of them." And as my friends say, beats all of them.] To our credit, be it said, that not one of these administrations whatever may have been, made much less attempts the repudiation, directly or indirectly, of a single dollar or cent, honestly due to a citizen of this or any other country of the globe. [Renewed cheering.] Nor counseled the establishment of a money for the uses of the people tainted with the slightest dishonesty.

Shall we now consent or seem to consent by our votes to lower that high standard or reverse the policy which this government has pursued from its beginning. [Loud cries of "no, no."] Shall we any of our creditors whoever or wherever we tolerate a policy that would deprive the brave men, or their widows or orphans of a farthing in the pension that a grateful government has granted them.

["No, no, never."] How could we recall their patriotic service, or the heroic services of Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln and Grant if we were to stoop to shave one dollar from the money creditors of the government or those who were willing to give their lives to save the Union? [Tremendous applause.] Yet my friends, other logical construction can be placed upon the proposition now before us to reduce and depreciate the value of our dollars.

There is another thing that can be said of our government. We have always had good money, so far as the national authorities were concerned. No congress that I can recall has ever passed, and no president has ever signed a bill that authorized what was confessedly dishonest or discredited dollar to be coined or issued by the United States government. In time of war we have taxed the credits of the government by issuing its promises to pay money, but the government has been prompt to make these promises good—good as gold. Again, good wages, too, we have enjoyed, especially since 1890; and, measured by the labor standards of other countries, they have been the best. Our contention in this regard is purely domestic. We steadily aim at a better citizenship, a more exalted and enlightened citizenship. We have encouraged a high standard of American manhood and American womanhood, and we do not propose to lower that standard now. [Applause.]

We have sought for the sake of humanity to elevate our citizens and to give them work and living wages which would bring not only the necessities but the comforts of life. We want in this country a free ballot and honorable, independent, self-respecting, free and conscientious citizenship. We sweep away the suggestions of birth, class, caste or condition and boldly proclaim in the words of Jefferson, uttered more than one hundred and twenty years ago, that "all men are created equal." [Applause.] Why, unlike any other country we have always held that good wages are only a form of economy, and the highest economy, and insisted that by improvement, effectiveness of methods and machinery we could pay more and better wages than were given to the people of any other country. This we could and did do under a protective tariff; and not until 1890, more than 32 years after its adoption, had we failed to preserve our own high standard of wages, by long odds the best and highest of any of the other great industrial and competing nations.

If we have followed false doctrines in the past to our hurt and injury, it is our privilege to abandon them now—and I believe we will. That is the very purpose of free government. It gives us frequent opportunities for a revision of judgment. It gives us a chance to try policies and to reject them if they do not prove beneficial to reject them. We have tried the policy of revenue reform. Are we satisfied to continue it? [Loud cries of "no, no, never."] Or rather will we substitute for a tariff policy which will abolish deficiencies in the treasury, light up our almost abandoned factories and call back from idleness to work and wages the men of the country and send cheer and light and hope to many American homes.

I thank you for this call and it will give me pleasure to meet and greet each one of you personally. [Cheers.]

A MUDDLE IN MISSOURI.

Only One Regular Ticket Likely to Be in the Field.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 15.—The secretary of state, who is a candidate for re-election on the Democratic ticket, has declined to file the Silver party ticket on the grounds that the ticket, under the caption, "Silver party ticket," with Democratic-Populist fusion electors and the Republican state ticket, would be misleading to voters. The gold standard Democrats have filed their ticket, with Judge Brace for the supreme court as their candidate. Brace is also the nominee on the silver Democratic ticket.

It will be seen, therefore, that the Democrats have raised a question which may prove more serious than anticipated. If the supreme court sustains the secretary of state in his position, it will, it is said, be bound to rule that there is but one legal ticket filed.

THE CLUBMEN WILL HUSTLE.

Woodmansee to Wheel His Men in Line For Final Election Work.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—President Woodmansee, of the National Republican League, has been in this city for two days in conference with the eastern officials of the league and members of the Republican national committee. Plans for special league work during the closing days of the campaign were completed, and President Woodmansee appointed a special supervisory committee for the eastern and southern states, consisting of Colonel H. Deb Clay, Virginia; E. F. Meyer, New Jersey; Everett Warren, Pennsylvania; A. G. Negley, Alabama.

D. DE MOTT WOODMANSEE.

Republicans For Breckinridge.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 15.—The seventh district Republican committee met here and resolved itself into a convention and nominated W. C. P. Breckinridge, the gold Democratic candidate, as that party's candidate for congress. This means that the name of Colonel Breckinridge, who has already been nominated by the national Democrats, will go under the Republican device on the ballot.

Recognizes McKinley Republicans.

DENVER, Oct. 15.—The supreme court has announced a decision requiring the secretary of state to certify the nominations of the McKinley Republicans to the county clerks to be printed on the official ballot and awarding the regular Republican emblem, the eagle, to the Republicans.

Condition of the Gold Reserve.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The treasury has lost $234,800 in gold coin and $40,000 in bars, which leaves the true amount of the reserve $133,504,585.

BANCROFT'S MISSION.

Denied That She Is to Force the Dardanelles.

TERRELL MAY ASK PERMISSION.

The State Department Would Be Gratified if the Sultan Would Grant the Favor—No Warlike Move to Be Made, as Has Been Reported.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—From the best of official sources it is learned that the movements of the United States gunboat Bancroft have not figured in any way in the cabinet meetings held since the return of the president to this city, and equally good and strong denials can be entered as to all the sensational features of the published report. Indeed the matter has not engaged the attention of the administrative officers of the state or navy departments since the sending of the original orders to the commander of the European squadron.

At no time was there the slightest intention of undertaking to force a passage of the Dardanelles, least of all at present when almost daily the cable brings the assurance of the port to some of the powers party to the treaty of Paris that reforms shall be initiated at once in the disturbed province and that the Turkish officials shall be held to a rigid responsibility for the maintenance of order and the protection of life and property in their respective provinces.

The administration has strongly re-ordered itself, notably in the Venezuelan correspondence with Great Britain, as bound to refrain from interference in European policies that do not directly affect the United States, and, when it might be gratified were the Bancroft admitted to Dardanelles for the benefit of Minister Terrell, it is not disposed to make any issue that would tend to complicate the situation.

That part of the Bancroft story alleging that the French fleet would cooperate in securing the passage of the Bancroft through the Dardanelles is absolutely without foundation and it can be stated on absolutely and unquestioned diplomatic authority that no negotiations to such an end ever have been attempted. The essential features of the entire story are discredited in diplomatic circles which believe that the published report originated in the fact that the Bancroft's admission to the Bosphorus is desired that it may be a place of refuge for Americans in case of rioting and that Minister Terrell will use the influence he possesses at the port to bring it about by peaceful and amicable methods, but will not persist if decided objection is made. So far as the United States alone is concerned the European powers have no objection to the presence of a dispatch boat in the Bosphorus, the objections arising solely from the fact that it might establish a precedent for like demands from other nations.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Inquiries made at the foreign office here show that nothing is known there regarding the alleged intention of the United States government to force the passage of the Dardanelles with the cruiser Bancroft, supported by the other vessels of the United States squadron in European waters.

It was further stated at the foreign office that no application had been addressed to any of the foreign powers to support the United States in forcing a passage of the Dardanelles.

POSTOFFICE AFFAIRS.

Extracts From Annual Report of Third Assistant Postmaster General.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The annual report of third assistant postmaster general for the past fiscal year shows that the total expenditures for the year was $90,626,210, and receipts $82,499,208, leaving a deficiency of $8,127,008, or a reduction of $1,679,956 less than the preceding year. The expenditures do not include the cost of carrying the mails over the subsidized Pacific railroads, which amounted to $1,558,898.

The special delivery service made an increase of 13 per cent in business during the year, 4,184,327 letters being delivered. The average time required for delivery was 17 minutes. The net profit of the system was about $100,000.

The number of postage stamps, stamped envelopes and postal cards issued was 4,195,665,523, an increase of 7 per cent over the issues of the previous year. The value of these issues was $79,178,101, which is about $740,000 more than the sales.

The increase of second-class matter mailed by publishers and news agents was nearly 12 per cent. The total weight of matter thus mailed, paid and free, was about $49,000,000.

The business of registration was also increased, the rate being about 4 per cent. The total number of pieces of mail matter registered was $15,106,336. The percentage of losses was reduced, the ratio being about one in every 24,000 pieces mailed by the public.

Recommendation is again made for a limited indemnity to be owners of registered matter lost in the mails.

Magee the Joint Nominee.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 15.—Judge McPherson has handed down an opinion deciding C. L. Magee of Pittsburgh the regular Democratic candidate for the senate in the Forty-third district and deciding the certificates of James E. O'Donnell, who claimed the nomination, invalid. This makes Magee the Republican and Democratic nominee and leaves him without opposition.

Congressman Stahl Withdraws.

YORK, Pa., Oct. 15.—Colonel James F. Stahl, the Republican congressman from this district who failed through a split in the district conference to obtain a renomination, has come out in a letter withdrawing as an independent candidate. This leaves Frank E. Hol- lar, Republican, and Charles A. Hawk- ins, gold Democrat, in the field.

Decided For Gold Democrats.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The appellate division of the supreme court, sitting in Brooklyn, decided that the use of the name "National Democratic party" on the official ballot is permissible. This reverses the decision of Justice Clem- ents.

NO SLAP AT WATSON.

Butler Says He Approves of the Populist Committee's Action.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—"There seems to be a wrong impression regarding the action taken by the Populist executive committee," said Senator Marion Butler. "The address issued by the committee does not reflect in any way upon Mr. Watson, and it will undoubtedly be approved by him. Committeeman Reed of Georgia came directly here, after spending two days with Mr. Watson in discussing the situation, and the policy indicated by our address is entirely approved by him. Of course the situation as regards fusion in several of the states is not entirely satisfactory to the committee. Since a union of forces is necessary to win there ought to be a union ticket. That ticket should be Bryan and Watson, but we are not going to divide our forces."

"In Kansas and Colorado, where there are no Watson electors, the situation is especially unsatisfactory to the committee and Mr. Watson. But since the electors in those states cannot be re-divided and give the Populists representation we are not going to turn them over to McKinley. Nothing will be done in those states now that would endanger the result, and our address was the best thing that could be done to unite the silver forces, which is our duty above all things. If we could have our way of course it would be different, but Mr. Watson would much rather put up with the existing conditions than have those states go for McKinley."

The members of the Populist executive committee held a conference with Chairman Jones, of the Democratic national committee, to arrange, if possible for the completion of fusion arrangements in congressional districts where this has not been brought about. It was positively stated that no further attempt will be made to effect fusion on the Kansas and Colorado electoral ticket.

preserve Blaine's birthplace. The house has fallen into a ruinous state.

The citizens of West Brownsville are very much stirred up over the condition of the historic old place.

MATABELE WAR ENDED.

Sir Cecil Rhodes Made a Settlement With the African Natives.

BULUWAYO, Oct. 15.—Sir Cecil Rhodes, Earl Gray, chief administrator for the British South Africa company, and other chief officials, have had a final indaba with the Matabele chiefs.

Mr. Rhodes announced to them that after yielding up their arms and those of their number who had been guilty of murdering whites, the Matabele must locate themselves in specified districts of the country.

The principal chiefs would be held responsible and would receive salaries from the British Chartered South Africa company.

The chiefs all agreed to this proposition, and it is believed that the whole Matabele trouble is now at an end.

A Priest Will Succeed Keane.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—According to Bishop Farley, who was seen at the residence of Archbishop Corrigan, it can be officially stated that the successor to Bishop Keane as rector of the Catholic university at Washington will be a priest and not a bishop. Bishop Farley was positive in his announcement, and additional weight is lent to it from the fact that he is one of the directors of the university.

J. C. McClain, of the board of education, expressed the belief to a reporter that the election officials are premature in their demands for pay for handling the bond ballots. The sessions were held in the Ferguson-Hill building, and A. J. Moon, of this city, presided. Hon. A. H. McCoy, who has been secretary since the organization was formed 15 years ago, read his report. Since the last meeting three years ago four members have died. They are James McLaughlin, W. S. Musses, John Taggart, Adam Yolla. Twenty-five per cent of the company who came home from the war have since died.

W. H. Gaston, Hugh McCoy and H. H. Davis were appointed to look after the resolutions, and the company adjourned for dinner. A sumptuous repast was served at the Wells restaurant, and the old boys were joined at dinner by 20 ladies, their wives and daughters.

The meeting this afternoon opened at 2 o'clock, and a number of other Grand Army men were present when the session began. After a time spent in chatting about old times the following officers were elected: President, F. S. Albright; vice president, Mr. Eakin; secretary, Hon. A. H. McCoy; treasurer, Harry Owen. It was decided to meet annually instead of every three years, the present arrangement. The time and place for the next meeting were left in the hands of a committee. Then came the speeches. Members of the command referred to their past experiences, and the many happy hits were enthusiastically applauded. Colonel Hill and Captain Myers were called from among the visitors, and made brief but excellent addresses.

Our Working Woman's Home association used your Honey and Tar six years ago, and are using it today. It has always been a favorite, for while its taste is not at all unpleasant its effects are very beneficial. It has never yet disappointed us. Not Making Millions.

The office of justice of the peace is not a very lucrative position at the present time, as there has not been a suit filed with any acquire in town for several days, and they are beginning to wonder if business will ever pick up again.

Shall It Be 16 to 1?

Silver men say yes, gold men say no. But all who have used it whether gold or silver men concede that Foley's Honey and Tar cough syrup is superior to all others as 16 is to 1.

The End of Samuel Pepps.

This day died Mr. Sam. Pepps, a very worthy, industrious and curious person, none in England exceeding him in knowledge of the Navy, in which he had passed through all the more considerable offices, Clerk of the Acts and Secretary of the Admiralty, all which he performed with great integrity. When King James went out of England, he laid down his office and would serve no more, but withdrawing himself from all public affairs he liv'd at Clapham with his partner Mr. Hower, formerly his clerk, in a very noble house and sweet place, where he enjoy'd the fruits of his labors in great prosperity. He was universally beloved, hospitable, generous, learned in many things, skill'd in music, a very great cherisher of learned men, of whom he had the conversation.

His library and collection of other curiosities were of the most considerable, the models of ships especially. Besides what he publish'd of an Account of the Navy, as he found and left it, he had for divers years under his hand the History of the Navy, or Naval, as he called it, but how far advanced, and what will follow of his, is left, I suppose, to his sister's son, Mr. Jackson, a young gentleman whom Mr. Pepps had educated in all sorts of useful learning, sending him to travel abroad, from whence he return'd with extraordinary accomplishments and worthy to be heir. Mr. Pepps had been for near forty years so much my particular friend that Mr. Jackson sent me complete mourning, desiring me to be one to hold up the pall at his magnificent obsequies, but my indisposition hinder'd me from doing him this last office. —"Evelyn's Diary."

As She Viewed Her Present.

An amusing incident occurred at a fashionable wedding in London. One friend, who determined to save her money and credit at the same time, took a broken carriage to a famous jeweler of Bond street and ordered the little stone to be set as a scarfpin for the groom. As she sagely remarked, "It does me no good, and coming from such a famous establishment they are sure to prize it and think I paid a lot of money." When the package was returned from the shop, the wedding guest, and merely despatched it with her card and compliments. Imagine her disgust, when strolling through the rooms where the bridal gifts were displayed, to find a dozen people about her offering, and each one smiling. For a moment she hesitated, then pressed forward, and lo! there was the precious white satin covered box bearing the prized name, it is true, but, alas, below, "From repairing department;" and even worse than all, resting on the blue cotton beside the pin, was an old broken bit of earring returned by the conscientious firm.—London Correspondent.

They Never Move.

There are but two European potentates who manage to get along without change of residence. These are the pope of Rome and the sultan of Turkey. The sultan has never left Constantinople since he ascended the throne in such tragic circumstances 19 years ago, and his holiness has remained within the precincts of the Vatican since the triple tiara was placed upon his head.

AUF WIEDERSEHEN.

Say not "Goodbye." The sounds have all we greet.
I cannot loose your hand with such a word.
Our ways part here, and yet, O love, and yet I cannot leave you till my soul has heard
The charm to bring me to your side again.
The dear "Auf wiedersehen."

Say not "Adieu." The word has hidden pain
Within its foreign accents sweet and clear
That haunts my heart with sad and hopeless strain
And pleads with duty just to linger here.
Smile courage in my eyes, O Love, and then Whisper "Auf wiedersehen."

Say not "Farewell." If thou would'st have it so,
The word, like a wan hand, waves us apart.
I cannot leave, mein Lieblich—will not go—
Until you whisper, lying on my heart,
The golden bridge between now and then,
The sweet "Auf wiedersehen."

JOHN DOE AND RICHARD ROE

Two Prominent Legal Names and Their Origin in England.

The houses of York and Lancaster began and ended with strife within a decade, Napoleon and Wellington pursued mutual carnage for only a few brief years, but two belligerents, famous in legal circles, seem to have been predestined for eternal combat and dissensions.

They are John Doe and Richard Roe. Twin brothers, creatures of the creative British legal mind, these two men of mystery have puzzled the astute minds of judges and lawyers and have caused juries to hang in the jury room while attempting to pour oil on the troubled waters of litigation.

Under the reign of Edward III, when the patient and plodding Saxon was picking his way out of feudal gloom, a new form of legal procedure was enacted by parliament for his relief.

John Bull's love of dominion over land is only equalled by his desire to secure dominion over the high seas, and in the past, as it is now true of the present, whenever he got a hold, a leasehold, a copyhold of any kind upon a spot of earth, great or small, he would cling to it as though the spot was a hallowed heirloom. To repossess the Englishman of his real estate wrongfully withheld from him a writ of ejectment was invented.

Hitherto his means of redress lay through a writ of right or a writ of entry—writs wrapped in a cobweb of maze and technicalities. This writ of ejectment was the mother of John Doe and Richard Roe. These sons, twin boys, were to her as Punch and Judy are to wandering mountebanks, and under the name of one she gathered all the complaints of the plaintiff and under the name of the other all the defenses of the defendant, and thus two armies met in legal form, while hoodwinked justice, in wig and gown, shakes the dicebox.

Slowly the power of monarchy waned and the power of the people grew in strength in old England. The maternal colonies left the maternal roof and set up housekeeping, but both in England and America these two brothers, John Doe and Richard Roe, keep up the family quarrel with fratricidal intent.—Atlanta Constitution.

About Eyeglasses.

If you are so unfortunate as to be compelled to wear eyeglasses or spectacles, see that they fit not only as regards the glasses, but the frames. There is nothing uglier than the marks of ill fitting glasses on either side of the nose. An optician who understands his business measures the bridge of the nose, the distance of the eyes from it and the width of the temples, and bends or fits the glasses accordingly. Apart from the discomfort and disfigurement of badly fitting frames, it is hardly possible that the glasses which they hold are right. They are almost certain to be out of focus. In choosing glasses, although the oculist or optician is bound to provide you with what is right, much depends upon yourself, for he cannot see with your eyes. The great mistake of those not accustomed to lenses is to get them, too strong. It is such a pleasure for the moment to see things clearly that we exclaim: "Oh, yes, that's just right," whereas the proper glass would be one of considerably less power.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Buller's Obstnacy.

An English journal tells a story to illustrate the obstnacy of Sir Redvers Buller. During the last Nile campaign, when descending through one of the cataracts on board a river steamer, he got into a discussion with Lord Charles Beresford as to the proper channel that should be taken. Each obstinately defended his own course, but in the end that which Buller insisted upon was adopted, and the steamer got through without accident. "You see I was right!" cried Sir Redvers. "Mine was the proper channel." "That was mine, too," coolly replied Lord Charles. "I only recommended the other because I knew you would go against whatever I said."

The Wisdom of Experience.

Aunt Sabina—Berthy, don't you have none of these here flirtatious young fellows that propose as soon as they call half a dozen times. They ain't no kind of partners for life.

Bertha—But some of them are very nice, auntie.

Aunt Sabina—Never mind that, Berthy. I've lived long enough to know that the hollowest and windiest things is most liable to pop.—Detroit Free Press.

Literary Quacks.

Literature has her quacks no less than medicine, and they are divided into two classes—those who have erudition without genius and those who have volubility without depth. We get secondhand sense from the one and original nonsense from the other.—Colton.

"The Armenian era" began Tuesday, July 9, A. D. 552, when the council of the Armenians formally separated from the church of the Greeks, thus definitely establishing a separate ecclesiastical organization.

CHILDREN ought to be brighten a mother's daily cares and help her to be strong, capable and cheerful. It is not right for mothers to feel the burden of life growing heavier and heavier year by year because of child-bearing and child-rearing. That shows something is wrong in the mother's physical condition. There is some unnatural weakness in her delicate organism which disqualifies her for motherhood. When this is wrong everything is wrong. A woman's physical life is wrapped up in the special organs of her sex. When these are restored to health and strength the whole woman becomes healthy and strong.

Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., has made a life-study of this problem of restoring health and strength to women. His "Favorite Prescription" is the most successful remedy ever known for women's peculiar ailments. Its sale exceeds the combined sales of all other medicines for women. It cures the most obstinate uterine diseases. It goes directly to the internal organism which is the real seat of all the troubles. It imparts vigor and health where they are most needed; heals ulceration; stops the weakening drains; promotes regularity; restores muscular power to the ligaments, thus correcting displacements of special organs in the only natural way.

Complete information regarding the "Favorite Prescription" and testimonials from hundreds who have used it are embodied in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a standard medical work of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, which will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only. This work is a complete family doctor book and should be read by both young and old. The profits on the sale of 680,000 copies at $1.50 has rendered possible this free edition. THE GLAD HAND.

East Liverpool Extends a Hearty Welcome—Our Citizens Show Appreciation in Public Utterances.

Lack of appreciation is not a failing of our citizens, and the advent of the "little conqueror" was received with the same display of enthusiasm that has spread all over the Union. Coming like a ray of sunshine to every household, raising burdens that many backs have borne for years, is enough to awaken the public to praise the like of which has never before been heard in this locality. From every ward, from every street come the same report. Failure is an unknown quantity as far as the "little conqueror" is concerned, and success follows every footstep. Right here at home the triumphs have been many and have set people talking about the wondrous workings. The following case in point should interest every reader, and it is only one among thousands:

Mr. W. F. Cochran, of Mulberry street, East End, says: "At intervals for thirty years I have had serious kidney and bladder trouble. I have suffered with all the various symptoms in their worst form. The agony I have gone through can hardly be described. Many nights I have rolled from one side to the other trying to find an easy position for my back. I could not move without having sharp twinges of pain about it was also troubled with a urinary difficulty, the secretions being very irregular and at times distressing. I have been run down that I could hardly help myself. Doctors have treated me and I have taken a power of stuff. I had given up all hope of being cured, having suffered so long and not finding anything that would give me relief more than a few days. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as a never failing remedy, I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. After taking half of it I could see some improvement. I continued to improve from that time on. Doan's Kidney Pills have done me more good than anything I have yet taken and I am quite free in expressing my opinion of them by saying that they are a good remedy for all kidney and bladder trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents, or mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Honest Sweden.

The Swedes are punctiliously honest and truthful. When asking for places at a theater, for instance, the ticket clerk never fails to inform the applicant if, owing to the crowded state of the house, a better position would be secured with a cheaper ticket than the one asked for.

Again, when parcels are taken out by steamers from Stockholm to country places in the neighborhood, they are just thrown on to the quay, where they frequently remain half the day without being claimed. It never seems to occur to any one that they could be possibly taken by any one but their rightful owners.

A Health Resort.

The healthfulness of Lynton, a summer resort in Devon, England, is advertised by this story:

Recently a visitor began to talk to an old man at Lynton and asked him his age, whereupon he said, "I am just over 70."

"Well," said the visitor, "you look as if you had a good many years to live yet. At what age did your father die?"

"Father dead?" said the man, looking surprised. "Father isn't dead. He's up stairs putting grandfather to bed."—Exchange.

Knew Their Place.

An Irish judge tells the following story of one of the juries in the south of Ireland, where he was trying a case: The usher of the court proclaimed with due solemnity the usual formula, "Gentlemen of the jury, take your proper places in the court!" whereupon seven of them instinctively walked into the dock.—Boston Green Bag.
